Newsletter 2025-November-26

Book birthday! Save the date and a special offer for my readers.

My first paperback copies of my first novel arrived late on November 14, just in time for their debut at Word on the Street!

Star-Crossed Alliance is now available in paperback on Amazon and Ingram Spark as well as wherever you buy ebooks. Link on my website under Publications: Star-Crossed Alliance. In Saskatoon, you can also find them at Pages of Passion Bookstore.

My official book launch will be Saturday, December 6 at Pages of Passion Bookstore, 614 Duchess Street in Saskatoon from 1:00 to 2:00 p.m. I would be thrilled to see you there if you're anywhere nearby! Yes, I will sign copies (though I never know what to write).

Special offer for my newsletter readers:

If you enjoy Star-Crossed Alliance enough to review on Goodreads, Amazon, or wherever you review books, point me to it. I have a special email gift for readers who take time to rate and review: a pdf copy of my notes for this story circa 1990 along with the original handwritten opening. It is so different from the published novel you might not know it's the same book, but the heart of the romance never changed.

New release from a fellow Saskatoon author (I've been waiting for this one):

She's an anomaly and doesn't even know it.

A superstorm threatens Wynn's outpost on Earth, but not as much as the unknown man who approaches. He's a Calypson, one of the mysterious residents of Sector Ten known for transforming humans into husks of their former selves—a fate that horrifies her and the rest of Earth's solar system. But upon his arrival, he turns out to be nothing like she expected, and the secrets of her past pull her into a dangerous game of survival. Find it here.

Thank you for being with me on this journey!
